FUN AND FROLIC - A two-day Sidewalk Bazaar begins Friday at 1, with elaborate plans for shopping delights as well as many varied and interesting booths sponsored by local organizations. Rides for the children will also be on hand, as will rides in antique automobiles, from time-to-time during the Friday-Saturday Bazaar. Ted Leland, who doesn't get to sit in the back seat of his 1915 Ford Beverly very often, is enjoying a trial run, in anticipation of the weekend festivities. From left to right in the car are Mr. Leland, Janet Spinelli, Dorothy Adams, behind the wheel and Mrs. Jerry Rockwell. Standing at the front fender are Miss Sandra Fairweather and Board of Trade President Kenneth P. Thompson.

Prudent shoppers and fun-loving residents are looking forward to the Sidewalk Bazaar Friday and Saturday in the up-town shopping area.

From 1-10 p.m. Friday, and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Main st. will be the center of the town's attention - with 19 church, civic and charitable organizations offering their own merchandise for sale, along with that of many merchants who will move outdoors for the two-day spectacular.

Rides for the children, strolling bagpipers, the traditional organ grinder with his monkey, street dances, concerts, an out-door chowder supper are among the many features of the two-day spectacular sponsored by the Andover Board of Trade.

For the convenience of everyone, Main st. will be closed off to through traffic during the Bazaar. Cars will detour at Central or Elm sts., headed South; while north-bound cars will turn onto Chestnut st. at the lights.

Plenty of parking will be available, however, at the several parking lots.

Highlights of the two-day affair - in addition to the many sidewalk booths and tables - will include the chowder supper from 5-7 p.m.

Town Employees Seek Explanation

The Town Employees Association will hold a special meeting, to discuss the existing wage and salary plans.

The meeting has been called on petition of many organization members.

According to former president Raymond LaRosa, the hiring of two employees at salaries exceeding or equal to maximum pay indicates the need for a revision of the pay schedules. Otherwise, he explained, the town will be going back to the old system of establishing salaries for individuals.

It was noted that the employees are not objecting to the salaries given the new employees - but do feel that there must be something wrong with the existing schedule if it is necessary to exceed it when hiring competent men.

Foresee 3,899 Fall Enrollment

An estimated 3,899 children will be attending public schools here in September.

Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson, stressing that the figures are only estimates at this time, provided the data for the School Committee Tuesday night.

The project enrollment represents an increase of 223 over the September enrollment in 1961, and an increase of 349 over September of 1960.

Mr. Erickson commented that last year's estimate, at approximately the same time of the year, was about 30 higher than the actual enrollment on opening day. And he noted that the estimates now may

INVESTIGATING DEATH BY ASPHYXIA

At press time Wednesday, police were investigating the death of Mrs. Carro Sammet "from asphyxiation". Her husband, Francis, was in serious condition at Lawrence General Hospital suffering with the same condition.

Both were found about 12:30 p.m. police stated, in their camp at Foster's Pond. No further details were available.

The Selectmen are being bluntly informed this week that their insistence on ground cover, over the rough-graded recreation area at the High School, may result in increasing project costs by at least one-third.

And the Board will be asked to forego the requirement, so that the full sub-drainage and rough grading project can be carried out as planned.

The School Committee has $40,000 in appropriated funds - but members have been informed that it will be completely impossible to rough grade the 18-acre site, then put enough loam on the area for proper seeding. Architects for the project have estimated that proper ground cover, at this stage of the project, could well run into thousands of extra dollars.

At a long discussion Tuesday evening, the architects agreed that there is currently no information about the depth of peat in the area; that possibly a culvert size may require re-examination and change

Renewal Plan Is Approved

Urban Renewal Director Ernest N. Hall expects to receive formal approval of the town's proposed renewal plan within a matter of days.

Notice of federal approval has already been received, but the formal notification through appropriate channels has not yet been accomplished. However, the local director has indicated that this now is only a matter of transmitting the documents from Washington, to New York, then to Andover.

Mr. Hall, obviously pleased that the federal stamp of approval finally has been obtained, said it should be possible for the subject to go to a special town meeting in October, as planned.

But whether or not the plan presented to that town meeting will be exactly the same as that now approved is something of a gamble.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Edwin Otto, regent of Priscilla Abbot Chapter, D.A.R., of Andover, who was the organizing president of the Society in this vicinity.

The Colors were presented by Robert Little, Bryan McGrath and Philip Valpey; the invocation was given by the Rev. Alexander Twombly of St. Paul's church of North Andover, and the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag and the C.A.R. creed were led by Sue Otto and Wayne Thompson respectively.

Weston Noyes led the singing of the National Anthem.

Mrs. Franklin P. Swan, senior state president of the Mass. Society C.A.R., gave a few words of welcome. She then installed the officers and introduced the other society members, giving them each a C.A.R. pin.

Mrs. Otto introduced the president, Anne Crocker, and presented a new 50-star Flag which had flown over the Capitol July 4, 1960, also the C.A.R. insignia with the President's pin, which is to be worn by the president of this society. These items were the combined gifts from the three sponsoring D.A.R. chapters, Priscilla Abbot of Andover, Betsy Ross of Lawrence and Samuel Adams of Methuen.

Miss Crocker conducted the rest of the meeting. She introduced Mrs. Herbert Perry, who was senior state organizing secretary, C.A.R., at the time the Osgood society was formed, and her daughter, Miss Betsy Perry, who presented a guest book to the new society. Mrs. Perry read out the aims of a good C.A.R. member; Learn all you can about C.A.R. Subscribe to magazine and read it; Help senior officers; Pay dues promptly; Learn creed; Be dependable as an officer or member; Take part in National contests; Help get new members.

Miss Gertrude A. MacPeck, state regent, D.A.R., was the principal speaker. She was for many years employed by the Postal department, and was present in 1953 when the plaque honoring Samuel Osgood, first Postmaster General, was unveiled on the grounds of his former home. She spoke about Henry Knox, who as a civilian offered to bring cannon from Fort Ticonderoga to Dorchester Heights, during the Revolution, which was then in the hands of the enemy. The undertaking took place during the severe winter months. Mr. Knox later became the first secretary of war under President Washington.

Entertainment was further furnished by the Linn Village band, who were resplendent in Continental uniforms and the Freeway Trio, Bruce Hinckley, David Machen and John Craig of Andover, who sang folk songs and accompanied themselves on guitars.

After the retiring of the Colors, the meeting adjourned and the guests were shown through the lower part of the house. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Edward Thompson, chairman, Mrs. Earl Thornton, Mrs. John Kenyon, Mrs. Robert W. Barron, Mrs. Edward V. Reed and Mrs. Gardner C. Little. Mrs. E. Dalrymple Borowski, Charlotte Whiteside, Carl and Robert Borowski decorated the speaker's table and the grounds.

Guests included Miss Elizabeth Swan, national vice president, C.A.R., Mrs. Luther B. Rogers, Betsy Ross Chapter, D.A.R., Mrs. Barron, Samuel Adams Chapter, and Mrs. Thompson, Priscilla Abbot Chapter.

Course On Water Safety

Does your fourth of July vacation include some fun on the water? Will it be safe boating? Do you know on which side of a red buoy you should pass? If another boat is heading straight for you, what are you supposed to do, according to the traffic rules for the water?

If you can answer all these questions easily, then you probably do not need a class in "Safety Afloat", but if you are in doubt, you might benefit by an evening of boating do's and don'ts.

The Greater Lawrence Y.W.C.A., in cooperation with the U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, is presenting a one-lesson course in the basic principles underlying boating safety. This will be open to men and women and to children, if accompanied by an adult. It is hoped that this will stimulate those who attend to study, further, the many phases involved in skilled and knowledgeable seamanship.

Course On Water Safety

Does your fourth of July vacation include some fun on the water? Will it be safe boating? Do you know on which side of a red buoy you should pass? If another boat is heading straight for you, what are you supposed to do, according to the traffic rules for the water?

If you can answer all these questions easily, then you probably do not need a class in "Safety Afloat", but if you are in doubt, you might benefit by an evening of boating do's and don'ts.

The Greater Lawrence Y.W.C.A., in cooperation with the U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, is presenting a one-lesson course in the basic principles underlying boating safety. This will be open to men and women and to children, if accompanied by an adult. It is hoped that this will stimulate those who attend to study, further, the many phases involved in skilled and knowledgeable seamanship.

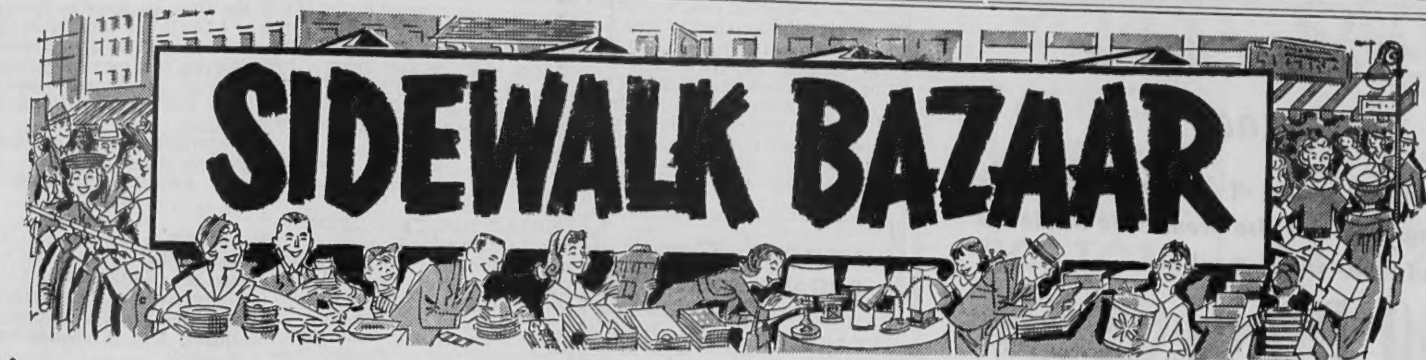

The class will start promptly at 7:30, Wednesday evening, June 27, in the Y.W.C.A., 38 Lawrence st., Lawrence.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

"Control" Is The Question

"Control" seems to be a big factor, whenever the School Committee and Selectmen discuss recreation areas at the schools.

And the discussions are not without some strong feeling, some mutual antagonism and misunderstandings.

At the root of the question is the desire of the Selectmen to have the town retain control over budgetary matters. They are unwilling to have additional recreation expenses lumped into the school budget, where voters can not exercise their judgment to the same extent that they can, if the expenses are in a separate itemized account.

The School Committee doesn't feel that this is the case — they don't apparently believe that the recreation expenses are hidden away in the school budget.

There must be a meeting of the minds on this subject, or we'll never have the recreation areas — just a lot of bickering and confusion, then a lot of blame when nothing is done.

If a recreation area at a school is primarily for the use of the school children, during the school year, then naturally the school department should pay the bills for it.

Incidental expenses for use of the area during the summer, when school is out, should properly be paid by the recreation department. It seems to us that a proper plan for use of the facilities, agreed upon between the town's recreation director and the school officials, could be worked out. Then the question is merely one of budgeting a proper share of the expenses at town meeting time.

This newspaper urged, before the last town meeting, that the Selectmen and recreation director have some voice in the planning stage of the high school area. We felt then, as now, that overlapping could be reduced to a minimum by foresight.

We did not suggest — nor do we believe it is necessary — that the Selectmen act as a watchdog over the school department.

It appears to us that more effort is being wasted in checking on the activities of the school department, while less-than-enough work is going into coordination of plans for both school and public use of the recreation area.

CAPITOL COMMENT

By YOUR CONGRESSMAN
BRAD MORSE

"More bang for a buck!" has long been a watchword among Congressional probers of Defense Department expenditures.

Although facetiously phrased, the slogan points up a serious attempt to eliminate waste, duplication and extravagance in our military.

It's refreshing to report that a big stride has been made towards plugging one of the biggest money leaks in the Defense Department.

Historically, each branch of the service has had its own supply and procurement section. On identical items, one branch might pay two or three times as much as another. The Army might issue bids on an item at the same time the Navy was selling the same item as surplus at a loss. Coordination was completely lacking. For 14 years the Hoover Commission, business organizations, and congressional committees have urged that purchasing divisions of the military be coordinated under one agency. Always sensitive to any proposal to unify, the branches of service protested vigorously. Congress hesitated to take action. Finally, in 1958, under President Eisenhower, Congress gave the Secretary of Defense the authority to "place under one agency or one department any activity common to more than one of the military services."

Last year a group of colleagues joined with me in an effort to urge executive implementation of various Hoover Commission proposals. Prime among them was the Defense Supply Agency. We petitioned the White House. We were rewarded — and the taxpayers even more so when Secretary McNamara established such an agency last August.

The new agency is charged with the management, procurement, and distribution of certain common supplies and services; it consolidates 12 existing organizations. There will be tremendous standardization in purchasing which could save taxpayers millions of defense dollars yearly.

Just this month the Military Operations Subcommittee of which I am a member held hearings on the new Defense Supply Agency. We sought to examine the scope of its authority and operation in purchasing, stocking and distributing to the services the common supplies essential to their operations. The new agency head, Lt. Gen. Andrew T. McNamara, has said he expects a $25 million reduction in annual operating expenses alone and an initial $200 million inventory reduction. Next year, the agency will buy about $3 billion worth of material, will manage about $2.6 billion in inventory, and will issue some $3 billion worth of material to the services. Presently, its assignments include central management of food, clothing, medical, petroleum, general and industrial supplies. It is in the process of taking control of construction and automotive supplies, and on July 1, 1962, will begin to control electronics supplies. A lot of your money will be saved.

Studies are underway to see whether three other important types of supplies should be handled by the agency: industrial production equipment, chemical supplies,

Fly yourself down to Brazil.

Summer Begins Officially Today, Longest Day Of Year

Summer — it's supposed to follow spring, a season that's almost a stranger to New England — arrives in our part of the world today, at 5:24 p.m.

Heralding its arrival have been the gradually lengthening days of the last six months, says the Charles Hayden Planetarium at Boston's Museum of Science.

They point out that ever since the first day of winter last Dec. 22, the sun has been moving northward in the sky, a little bit each day. With the coming of summer it reaches its most northerly position and begins once again to move towards the south.

It is this northward motion, says the Planetarium, that causes the longer days and shorter nights. For example, June 21, the longest day of the year, the sun rises at 5:07 a.m. and doesn't set until 8:25 p.m. This gives us a full 15 hours 19 minutes of daylight, or six hours, 13 minutes, more than we had on the first day of winter.

Just because the sun is highest and the day longest today doesn't mean that our hottest weather comes at this time, says the Planetarium. For several weeks after this date, we continue to gain more heat during the day than we lose during the night, and temperatures keep on rising until late July or early August. After that, the balance shifts, and our part of the world begins to cool down.

Below the equator, it's just the opposite. Right now, they are girding themselves for a season of ice and snow as winter comes to the southern hemisphere.

The 78th commencement exercises of Pynchard, the first in the new auditorium and the first with a class over 100, were held Friday evening.

No opposition appeared against Paul Ward's petition for a transfer of his discontinued Essex st. liquor license to North Main st., in Mar-land Village, at a hearing held Monday night by the Selectmen. A car crashed into the Cross Coal Co. window on Main st., Sunday afternoon, but the occupants were not seriously hurt. The car first hit a hydrant, and a spectacular gush of water accompanied the accident as a result. The Abbott Brothers Shoe Co. of Barnard st. is soon to move to Haverhill, terminating a long tenure here. The plant was formerly operated by the Bernards.

Hours will be Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. in the adult department, and from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, and from 2 to 5 p.m. for the Children's room. Ballardvale will be open as usual from 2-5 and 6-8 every Monday and Thursday.

Books may be left in the street box or in the door slot if necessary, but readers are reminded that recordings must be returned to the desk to insure their safety.

Librarian On Vacation

Vacation Loans

Many library users are familiar with the summer loan period, which permits families to take a number of books that are not in special demand, to become due on September 15. This extension of the loan period has proved very helpful for those who leave town for the summer, and the fact that adults have no limits set on the number of books which they may take means that many families leave with arms loaded as they head for shore or camp. Parents have this same privilege with books in the Children's room, if the books not appearing on special lists are their choice. Children may have a limited number of books on the summer loan on their own cards, but all are reminded that this privilege must be requested, as it is not automatic.

Friendship 7 Club

This summer the Bookworms are joining the "Friendship 7 Reading Club" at the Memorial Hall Library. The plan is to have the young readers explore new fields of reading, as well as to continue reading in those areas which have always interested them. The members are signing upon the club roll, both in the main library and in the Ballardvale branch, and are given a special reading list for their own school grade. They report their books in their own Flight Log, and with every three books "put themselves into orbit."

In the fall this group will have a party, with a marionette show.

Story And Music Hours

Tuesday afternoons there will be story hours for all boys and girls, ages 6 through 12, and on Wednesday mornings this same age group will have record listening hours.

June 26, from 2:30 to 3:15 o'clock, the story hour will have the amusing title "June Bugs."

Boys and girls are welcome to attend any or all of the story hours.

Recent Recordings

Among the recordings recently added to the library's collection are the following, all of which may be borrowed for the usual period of three weeks by adult cardholders: "Cannonball Enroute", Julian "Cannonball" Adler, saxophone, plays jazz; "Madrigal Masterpieces", sung by the Deller Consort, Renaissance music of France, Italy and England; "She's Like A Swallow" and other folk songs, sung by Bonnie Dobson; "Joan Sutherland Operatic Recital" arias from operas; "Les McCann Plays The Truth", with Les McCann, piano, Leroy Vinnegar, bass, and Ron Jefferson, drums; "Soul Jazz" - the Garland Quintet plays "All Mornin' Long", etc.; "Sketches Of Spain", arranged and conducted by Gil Evans; "More Piaf Of Paris", Edith Piaf, famous chansonniere, with the orchestra of Robert Chauvigny, sings French love songs; "Peter Seeger Sings American Ballads", Seeger Sings "Symphony No. 2" with Leonard Bernstein conducting the New York Philharmonic.

Three local men received certificates at Wentworth Institute, at the 50th annual commencement ceremony, June 13. Edward L. Fortuna, a member of the Reading Improvement Club and the T-Square Club, is a student at the T-Square Club. Richard L. Do You Know When Your Lawn Is Thirsty?

Two simple tests can be used to determine when the lawn needs water, says Bob Fitzgerald of the Essex County Extension Office. The best recommendation is to water the day before the grass wilts. And if this sounds strange, wilting is indicated by the color of the lawn and footprinting. Just before wilting, the grass takes on a darker color, often a bluish-green. In addition, the fine grasses and clover will show foot prints and don't recover quickly from trampling. Another method of determining moisture needs of the lawn is probing with a long shanked screwdriver. When soil is moist you can easily push the screwdriver down into the ground. When you can push it down only about three or four inches into the soil, this indicates the lower levels are drying out and it is time for a good soaking. Fitzgerald also adds that gardeners should become aware of different climates that exist around the yard. Areas on the north or those that are shaded may not need water as often. Other areas such as southern slopes or those bordering curbs and walks may need moisture more frequently.

Screwdriver probing will reveal the areas of need. A little more than an inch of water is recommended for application at each watering. This is usually adequate for a week, although in early spring it may be sufficient for two to four weeks, and as little as four days during extremely hot, dry weather.

CORRECTING EXAMS AT RIDER COLLEGE

Over 200 college and high school educators are spending this week at Rider College, Trenton, N.J., grading advanced placement examinations. Among the educators are Frederick S. Allis Jr., Leonard F. James, Harper Follansbee, William H. Brown, Simeon Hyde Jr., and Richard S. Pieters, all of Phillips Academy.

Plans are rapidly progressing for the Cooperative Vacation Church School, being sponsored by the cooperating churches of the Andover Council of Churches to be held at the South Congregational Church, June 25 - July 6, from 9-12 noon, daily, Monday through Friday. The course of study is "God and His Word". This is a 10-lesson course, but any boy or girl not able to attend all sessions will still derive much from any individual day's session. All children of Andover are welcome. Registrations may be made at any of the cooperative churches; those on the staff are: teachers, Mrs. Paul Hood, Mrs. Gilbert Cromie, Mrs. Louis Anderson,

Episcopal, Andover Baptist and Ballard Vale United Church. Although pre-registrations are encouraged, any boy or girl may register on the opening day, if it is not possible for parents to register them earlier. Light snacks will be served during each morning session. Miss Linnette Nierlitz, a graduate of the Baptist School for Christian Workers, Bryn Mawr, Pa., has been hired by the Council of Churches to be the Director of the School. She has already met with the teachers, and will be at the South Church again this Sunday at 8 p.m. for final coordination of plans. The staff for the school is representative of all the cooperating churches. Among those on the staff are: teachers, Mrs. Paul Hood, Mrs. Gilbert Cromie, Mrs. Louis Anderson,

Mrs. Clarence May, Mrs. Adeline Wright, Mrs. Frank Emmert of the South Congregational Church; Mrs. D. C. Lockwood, Mrs. Beverly Holmes of Christ Episcopal Church; the Rev. Wendell Minnigh of Ballard Vale United Church; Mrs. Charles Towne, Baptist Church; Mrs. Tom Mikula of West Parish Congregational Church; Mrs. Alice Holmes of the Free Christian Church.

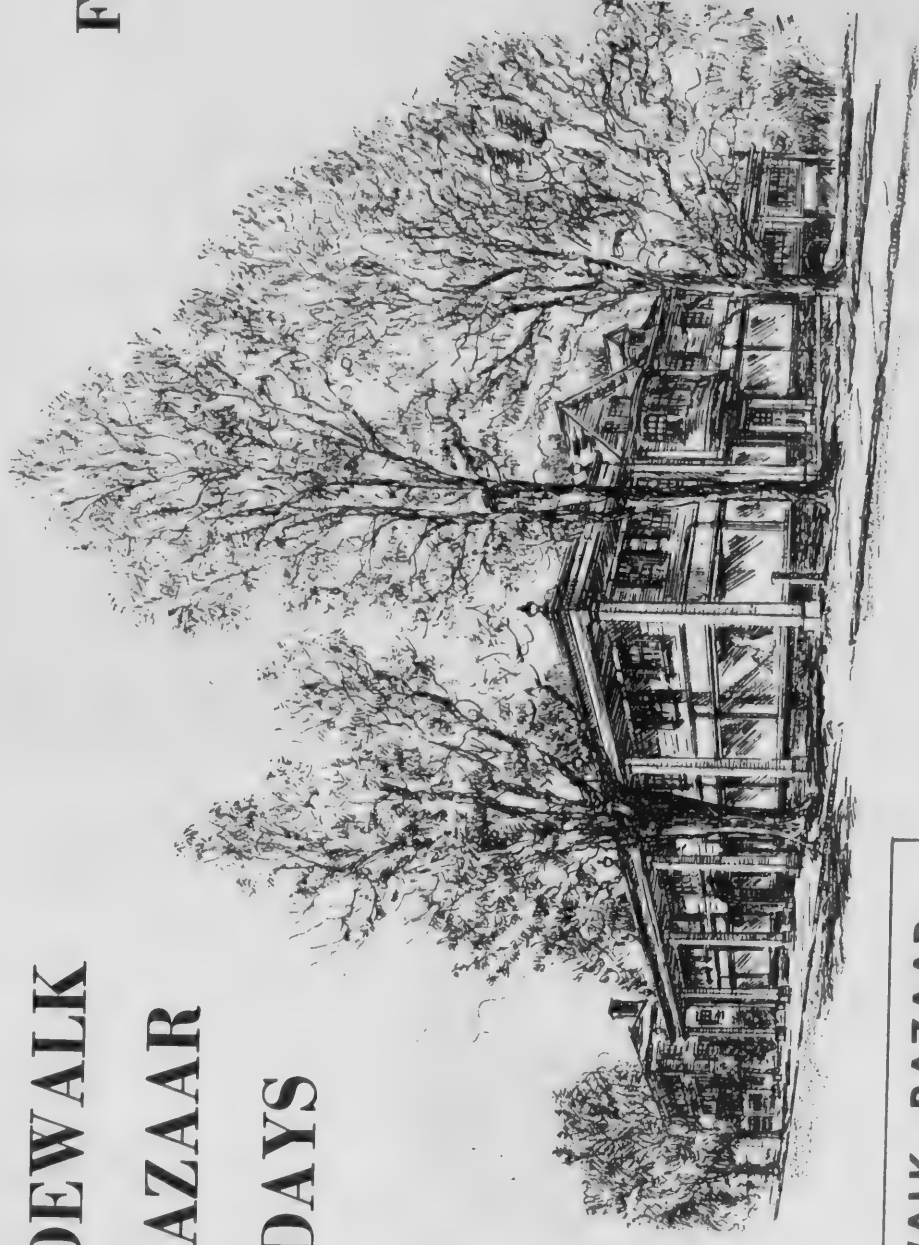

Nursery workers are Mrs. Joseph Cherry, Baptist Church; Mrs. John Souther Jr., Free Church; Barbara Johnson of the Baptist Church. The refreshment committee includes Mrs. Everett Gorrie and Mrs. Richard Beaulieu of the Free Christian Church. Mrs. Mikula is also serving the school as secretary; Miss Karen Henderson is the pianist. Fred Fitzgerald of the Free and the Officers Club.

Church is the treasurer, Earl Young of the West Parish Church is in charge of housing for the new director. A large number of teenagers are volunteering as helpers for the school. This is the first school of its kind held in Andover for over a decade and it is very encouraging to all concerned with its program at the response from the people of Andover.

GRADUATED FROM MILITARY SCHOOL
Among the 94 seniors graduating May 28 from Carlisle Military School, Bamberg, S. C., was Cadet Captain Arthur Kibbee, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Kibbee of Maple ave. Cadet Kibbee was company commander of the Band, a member of the football team, Block "C" Club and the Officers Club.

This is a view of the administration and service areas. At far left will be the administration office; the cafeteria will be housed in the central area, and at right is the gymnasium, with the staging still in place. Clerk of the Works Edward P. URBAN RENEWAL PLAN APPROVED

The Planning Board has engaged its consultant to study the central area - larger geographically than the specific Urban Renewal area - and this may result in some changes, according to Mr. Hall. He explained that the consultants will probably come up with proposed zoning for the larger area, patterned after the restrictions already involved in the Urban Renewal plan.

But he emphasized that the Planning Board may wish to make some suggestions as to changes in the Urban Renewal plan itself - and these must be considered by the Housing Authority before October. Such changes might involve leaving a building now scheduled for demolition, or other changes in the re-use plans, Hall indicated. He said, however, that these changes can be incorporated into the plan, and presented to town meeting.

Although he did not indicate that changes or suggested changes will be included, Mr. Hall made it clear this week that the public agency responsible for Urban Renewal can make "minor" alterations - and seek approval from the government after town meeting has acted.

Even the voters at town meeting could amend the plans, he said, but whether the federal authorities will approve amendments of substance, from the floor of town meeting, is unknown.

Speaking of town meeting, Mr. Hall has also explained that the actual vote on Urban Renewal can legally be taken on a straight majority basis; only two small zoning changes need two-thirds approval. However, any town appropriation involving a bond issue - such as that possibly needed for a new town hall and fire station - would require a two-thirds vote.

The Selectmen, he stated, have been considering the possibility of having the entire subject worded in such a way as to demand two-thirds approval, regardless of necessity. Mr. Hall also pointed out that legal opinion now states that the Selectmen have the authority to approve Urban Renewal plans, without going to town meeting. Once approved, the voters would have to, in effect, ratify the action by appropriating funds and altering zoning as needed. There has been no indication that the Selectmen will do this, however.

to allow for greater run-off; and that the possibility of blowing dust must be considered as a factor during and after the construction.

At first, the Committee agreed to have the architects study the plans, with the object of completing a smaller area, perhaps five or six acres. Although members believed this to be the only course open to them, they wondered why they should have to do the project in such a way as to cost the maximum amount of money. Several suggested that savings could be realized by carrying out the project as planned, instead of bringing back heavy equipment two or three times for portions of the

Awarded Masters Degree At B.C.

HOWARD D. PONTY

Howard D. Ponty, 4 Gardner ave., was awarded his Master's degree in Business Administration at the annual commencement exercises at Boston College.

He received his Bachelor's degree from Lowell Technological Institute and at present is supervisor of production planning and scheduling at Raytheon Co. in Andover.

There was a general feeling by Committee members that the project might not get underway at all this year, if delays are imposed upon delays.

And several members stated belief that the Selectmen would be just as pleased to have the project delayed in such a way.

The decision to put the entire subject into written form, and transmit this to the Selectmen for action, came about 12:45 a.m. Wednesday, when the meeting was adjourning. Members felt that the Selectmen should be told about the possibility of spending extra funds over the years, as a result of doing a partial job now, and should be asked to waive the requirement of a ground cover.

The Selectmen's position has been that dust would be blown out of the area, once it is rough-graded, and become a nuisance to residents of the area.

Little Stories about Great Hymns

Shepherd of Tender Youth

Shepherd of tender youth,
Guiding in love and truth,
Through devious ways;
Christ, our triumphant King,
We come thy name to sing,
And here our children bring
To shout thy praise.

Considered the oldest Christian hymn, it was written by Clement of Alexandria in the second century A.D. Born in Athens, about 140 A.D., Clement found little satisfaction of soul in Greek philosophy. Through Pantanus, head of the Christian School, he found in Christ the "All in All" he had been seeking. He rose to succeed Pantanus, and became a great leader in the early Christian Church.

TREMENDOUS RESPONSE AT POLIO CLINIC

A tremendous response at the second polio clinic Tuesday found 1,600 pre-school age youngsters receiving their oral vaccine. This was 100 more than at the first clinic, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Nadeau, R.N., Board of Health nurse.

A make-up clinic will be held today and Friday, from 9-11, at the Junior High. Any parent who can not attend on these days should contact Mrs. Nadeau at the Board of Health office to make arrangements for another appointment.

They also visited at Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pa., where one of their twin daughters, Dorothy, is a student and at Ursinus College in Collegeville, Pa., where the other twin, Barbara, is a student.
